Russia, China Seek To Tighten Nations' Ties

Chinese Premier, Big Delegation Fly To Moscow For Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Kremlin leaders prepared today for major talks aimed at tightening the military, economic and political ties of the Chinese-Soviet Communist partnership.

The Premier, who is also Red China's foreign minister, flew to Moscow yesterday from Peiping with a big delegation that included his deputy premier, Chen Yung, and a sizable group of military experts.

The nature of the top-level discussions between the world's biggest Communist nations was kept secret.

Military Questions Rank High

It was evident, however, that military questions would rank high among those taken up since Chou brought along the deputy chief of Peiping's general staff, Su Yui; his Air Force commander, Lyu Ya-low; Deputy Navy Commander Lo Shun Chu, and Deputy Commander of Artillery Tsu Chuan.

Judging by others in the party, closer economic bonds will be sought also in the talks. Economic specialists with Chou included Minister of Heavy Industry Wan Haoshou, Minister of Fuel Chen Yui, Deputy Minister of Communications Wang Cheng, Deputy Minister of Machine Building Wang Taohan and economic expert Li Fungshung.

On the political side were the head of the Asian department of the Peiping Foreign Ministry, Chen Chia-kan; the chief of the Soviet and Eastern Europe department, Hsui Yi-hsin, and the ministry's political secretary, Shih Chen.

The Chinese got a full red-carpet reception by top Soviet leaders at the airport—indicating the high importance the Russian government attaches to the conference.

Replying to the official welcome, Chou paid tribute to the "brotherly and unselfish aid" which China is receiving from the Soviet Union and said he had come to strengthen co-operation between the two countries even further.

Chou's last conference in Moscow, in January, 1950, preceded the Korean War by six months.

It appeared certain the new talks will aim at expanding collaboration within the scope of the 1950 Soviet-Chinese Friendship and Mutual Aid Pact, the formal basis of the two countries' present close relationship. It is expected an attempt will be made also to broaden the pact and augment it with additional agreements.

The Chinese are almost certain

Lost Scout Lives Week On Nut Diet

SONORA, Cal., (AP)—A 13-year-old Boy Scout who survived a week of wandering in high Sierra wilds some 60 miles east of here with only a handful of pine nuts for sustenance was unmoved by the frightening adventure today and told amazed forestry officials: "I wasn't hungry at all."

Brent Bradberry, a husky ninth-grader from Lynnwood in Los Angeles County, walked up to a fishing party late yesterday on the banks of Cherry Creek bordering Yosemite National Park to end a hectic seven-day air and ground search by forestry officials and deputy sheriffs.

On a fishing trip with a Boy Scout group from Lynnwood, young Bradberry disappeared into the rugged terrain a week earlier from a dam on Emigrant Lake, headwater for Cherry River, 30 miles above the point where he was found.

The three young fishermen who found him "still on his feet and going with a smile on his face" were Jim Emerald, Johnnie Joslin and Bud Shea, all of Sonora. They immediately pressed a salami sandwich into Bradberry's hands, the first food beyond the pine nuts he had eaten in seven days.

Gunshot Victim Still In Fair Condition

Gene A. Bergman, 18, of 452 Park St. is still in fair condition at the Central Clinic where he was brought Friday night after he had accidentally been shot in the right leg by a companion on the Earl Willard farm, about one mile west of Millport.

The mishap occurred at approximately 6:30 p.m. when an animal darting across the youths' path startled Bergman's friend into pulling the trigger of the .32 caliber rifle he was carrying.

39 Believed Drowned In Flash Flood In Southwest England

LYNMOUTH, Eng. (AP)—Army engineers blasted and bulldozed their way today through the debris of a flash flood believed to have drowned 39 persons in England's southwest resort coast.

Nine bodies have been recovered from among the rain-washed boulders and house wreckage along a 15-mile stretch of the Devon coast. Still missing and presumed dead were 30 more villagers and vacationers.

This picturesque vacation town was almost washed into the sea by water which poured over the banks of the Lyn River at the height of the flood early Saturday morning.

The army engineers were racing against newly threatening skies in an attempt to put the Lyn back into its course. More rains might spread the waters over a still larger area.

The current swept many logs through the battered houses, ripping away walls and tearing out furniture which floated into the sea in a tangled mass.

The level of the water was falling fast along upper stretches of the Lyn. Exe, Bray and other little rivers, but they were still mad torrents near the seashore of Devon and Somerset.

At Lynnwood the Lyn rose from its banks with incredible swiftness Friday night and early Saturday and divided the community of 2,000 persons into three sections. Police and troops were connecting the sections today with improvised pontoon bridges and ropes to which rescue workers could cling.

One torrent rushed down the main street, its depth at places about five feet. Several hundred homes were damaged and at least a dozen appeared to have been destroyed.

There was no rain today, but low rainclouds sweeping across the area caused anxiety in the valleys. At a weather observation post four miles south of Lynnwood nine inches of rain fell Friday. At one place the Lyn rose 15 feet in 15 minutes.

Columbia Killer Confined As Lunatic

NEW YORK (AP)—Bayard Peakes, the "eternal life" physicist who killed a pretty blonde secretary on the Columbia University campus, today was ordered confined as a lunatic.

General Sessions Judge Edward J. McCullen committed him to Mattewan state hospital for the criminal insane, at Beacon, N. Y.

Psychiatrists had found the 29-year-old Peakes so mentally deranged that he could not understand the murder charge against him, nor that he had done wrong.

On last July 14, Peakes walked into the offices of the American Physical Society, on the Columbia campus, and shot to death 18-year-old Eileen Fahey—a girl he had never seen before.

He said afterward that he was angry with the physical society for not recognizing his theories on electronics and for prolonging life. He said he killed the girl to attract public attention.

Firm, Union Continue Contract Negotiations; 30,000 Men Out

AKRON, O. (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers struck the B. F. Goodrich Co. today but continued contract negotiations with the firm.

The walkout—ordered by the union last night—was first felt in Akron, where 13,000 of the 30,000 involved are employed. Three other plants were struck quickly.

Affected by the strike order were nine of the company's 30 plants—those engaged in processing rubber. Goodrich also has chemical and aircraft plants covered by other unions.

Negotiations, broken off at 1 a. m. at Cincinnati, are scheduled to resume later today. They have been going on for 10 weeks.

Goodrich has offered 10-cent hourly pay increases, the same as were granted earlier by Goodyear

Tire & Rubber Co., U. S. Rubber Co., General Tire & Rubber Co. and Sieberling Rubber Co.

The union says the average Goodrich pay now is about $1.80 an hour.

In dispute are fringe issues in the Goodrich pact. After failing to reach agreement on those, the union called out its members.

The union said the fringe issues involve holiday pay, grievance procedure, reporting for work, vacations and other matters. A union publication here claimed the company had offered the 10-cent hike only "if we agree to the impossible contract terms dictated by the company."

Truman, Taft May Become Major Targets Of Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman and Sen. Robert A. Taft—two men who aren't running—may become major targets in the presidential campaign.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, thus far haven't found anything especially cutting to say about each other.

But Eisenhower's followers have had plenty to say about Truman and his record. In fact, they are busily engaged in efforts to hang Truman's policies around Stevenson's political neck.

And the Stevenson people may be awaiting only some official sign that Taft will play an active part in Eisenhower's campaign to let go a blast at the Ohio senator and his wing of the Republican party.

Truman said even before the Chicago conventions that the Republican nominee would have to carry along the weight of what he called "isolationist" sentiment in his party. Taft was tabbed as an "isolationist" during the primary campaign by Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, now head of Eisenhower's personal staff.

The Republican nominee is expected to confer with Taft within the next few weeks on how much the Ohio senator will be asked to do in the general election campaign.

The Columbus Dispatch reported Saturday that Taft definitely will take an active part in the Eisenhower campaign. It quoted him in a telephone interview from Canada as saying he expects to confer in Washington about Sept. 8 with Republican National Chairman Arthur Summerfield on a speaking schedule.

The Eisenhower camp apparently is split on the extent to which it ought to employ Taft's talents, if at all. Some of the general's backers have been urging him to ignore the Taft wing in campaigning. Others say he needs the Ohioan's help, particularly in the Midwest.

Republicans have been harping on the contention that Stevenson is a "captive" of the Truman administration. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts provided some new ammunition along this line over the week end.

The two GOP congressional leaders charged the Democrats with about every conceivable political crime in a 13,000-word campaign document. They said the Republicans were doing their best to save the country.

Ike Holds Lead In Straw Vote Here

Dwight D. Eisenhower holds a three-to-one lead over Adlai Stevenson in the straw vote which is being conducted by The Salem News among its readers.

In an effort to sample the preference of voters before the presidential election Nov. 4, The News is printing a daily straw vote ballot on which readers are urged to indicate their choice and mail to the News office. The ballot will be found today on Page 3.

The Republican and Democratic candidates were about even in early returns last week, but as the mail increased toward the end of the week and this morning, the general became a three-to-one choice of the readers who responded to the poll.

LISBON—A Cleveland district man was fined $200 and costs on a charge of driving while intoxicated in one of six cases heard over the weekend by Mayor Wilbur Warren.

Arch McCord of Lisbon was fined $15 and costs on a reckless driving charge and $5 and costs for driving without an operator's license. He was arrested Sunday morning on W. Chestnut St.

Viadas Cyvas of Cleveland was fined $10 and costs for passing on the crest of a hill after he was cited by the State Highway Patrol Sunday on Route 45, north of here.

Fined a total of $30 and costs after pleading guilty to intoxication charges were William Huck, Arthur McCune and James Lyle, all of East Liverpool.

House Probers Uncover Fraud 7 Years Old, Never Prosecuted

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators, it was learned today, are digging into a case of alleged fraud that lay in the Justice Department about seven years and then was marked "closed" without being prosecuted.

Activities of a number of past officials of the department have been under scrutiny in connection with the case, which is expected to become the subject of public hearings on Capitol Hill soon.

The unexplained lack of prosecution in the case is one of several similar matters being studied by a House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department.

Committee sources said the case first reached the department in 1944, and about a year ago was marked "closed" without either civil or criminal prosecution being initiated.

At the time the case was turned over to the department, the official in charge of the Criminal Division was Assistant Atty. Gen. T. Lamar Caudle, who entered the department under Atty. Gen. (now Supreme Court Justice) Tom Clark.

Caudle was fired by President Truman last year from his job as chief of the department's Tax Division as a result of disclosures by a House committee investigating tax scandals.

The House committee investigators did not identify the case—other than to say it related to a business firm—and said only that Justice Department officials were "primarily" involved.

The investigating committee, headed by Rep. Chelf (D-Ky), meanwhile, is preparing a new series of public hearings to start next week. It will be the committee's first public sessions since Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery began a shakeup of the department following the ouster of J. Howard McGrath, McGranery's predecessor.

Two former top Justice Department officials are slated to appear before the committee—former Deputy Atty. Gen. Peyton Ford, and former Assistant Atty. Gen. Herbert A. Bergson, who headed the Anti-Trust Division.

Investigators say they want to question them about their activities during and after their employment as government attorneys.

The ADA similarly described the 1952 Democratic platform as "liberal and forward looking." It criticized the Republican ticket and platform, saying these "in no way conform to the requirements of the world situation today."

The ADA's action drew a statement, through the Republican National Committee, from Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, who said it "now completes the captive picture in which the Democratic presidential nominee finds himself."

"On his back," said Hickenlooper, "he has the label TRUMAN, and on each ankle a ball and chain—on the right foot the CIO and the left, the ADA."

Dems' Campaign Plans Outlined

Tours By Stevenson, 100 Party Men Set

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson and his nine-member strategy board have sketched in broad outline these tactics for the Democratic presidential year campaign:

Major speaking tours by Stevenson, traveling by train and airplane, geared for the most part to a television time table.

A country-wide speaking barrage by a team of 100 Democratic Senators, representatives, governors and other party leaders.

The technique of the 1952 campaign, said Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, will junk "old style oratory" in favor of "short, clear presentations" of issues. Monroney is chairman of the Democratic National Committee's speakers bureau.

Plans, perhaps in greater detail than announced, were worked out in week-end conferences between Stevenson and his strategy board.

Stevenson planned to begin a brief vacation Tuesday at Minocqua, Wis.

When he returns to his desk — and indications were he will continue to occupy the governor's chair while campaigning for the presidency — Stevenson faces this rigorous schedule:

Aug. 27-28 — A series of speeches and appearances before the American Legion Convention, Legion Auxiliary meeting, New York State Democratic Convention, New York Liberal Party Convention in New York City, and a New Jersey Democratic convention.

Sept. 1 — The campaign "kick-off" speech at Detroit, coinciding with President Truman's opening campaign speech for Stevenson at Milwaukee.

A few days later his first campaign trip, to California, Oregon and Washington, and possibly including the Southwest, will begin. A plane tour of major Southern cities will be made a bit later.

Stevenson cited Saturday his own record as governor of Illinois — a record questioned by Sen. Everett R. Dirksen, Illinois Republican — as the best answer whether he can "clean up the mess in Washington" if he is elected President.

The Illinois governor implied that he would use "ruthless objectivity" in cleaning house, in a letter to editor Tom Humphrey of the Oregon Journal, Portland, Ore. His letter appeared to accept as fact that there is a "mess" in the nation's capital.

The tombs date to before the Helen of Troy era of some 3,000 years ago. The masonry is much rougher than that of Grecian excavations of later periods.

Cross, Pictures Put On Explorer's Grave

LICQ-ATHERY, France (AP) — A bronze cross and two photographs were lowered to the deep underground grave of French cave explorer Marcel Loubens today as rescuers prepared to bring the last survivor from the exploration party to the surface.

Three other men were brought up Saturday night and Sunday from 1,153 feet below in the Pierre St. Martin cave here in the Pyrenees Mountains. Loubens died there after falling 120 feet last Thursday when either the cable pulling him to the surface snapped or some trouble developed in the hauling mechanism.

At dawn today the mementoes were lowered to be placed on the rock grave improvised for him in the abyss. The photographs were of his wife, and his two-year-old son.

Defenses Please GOP Congressmen

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Four Republican congressmen on a U. S. Army-sponsored tour of the Far East said today they were favorably impressed with American military defenses in the Far East.

The group included Reps. J. Harry McGregor and William M. McCulloch of Ohio, Ralph Harvey of Indiana, and Harold C. Ostertag of New York.

With the party was McGregor's son, Lt. Harry S. McGregor, who joined the group in Tokyo as an official escort officer. He will leave it in the Philippines and return to Korea where he is a tank platoon commander in the U. S. 24th Infantry Division.

The congressmen watched Nationalist troops maneuver today and then flew south to Taipei for an inspection of Nationalist air Force installations there. Later they will look at Chinese naval headquarters at Tsoying.

Korean West Coast Struck By Typhoon

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The center of a typhoon — with winds up to 100 miles an hour — hit Korea's West Coast today at Kunsan, 80 miles south of Seoul, and roared on across this peninsula toward the Sea of Japan.

There was no report of damage but the ship-wrecking storm brought torrential rains to all of South Korea. Four to five inches of rain were predicted for the battlefront tonight.

In Pusan, on the southeastern tip of the peninsula, 3½ inches of rain fell and wind gusts up to 75 miles an hour lashed the area.

A U. S. Air Force weather expert said winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour would whip high exposed places on the battlefront.

Stiff winds buffeted Seoul but the storm's main force moved about 25 miles south of the city.

Power of the storm decreased as it passed overland. The Air Force weather expert said it may pick up power when it hits the Sea of Japan and swerves toward Hokkaido, northernmost island of Japan.

Split Mississippi Democrats Convene

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's divergent Democrats, in a three-way split for Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Dwight Eisenhower and a possible third party group, battle today for supremacy in the State Democratic Convention.

The convention opens at 11 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, to decide its political role in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Mississippi, with 96 per cent of its voters on the state Democratic party rolls, has groups supporting Stevenson and Eisenhower and a faction that prefers a third party Southerner to either major party candidate.

The Stevenson forces, headed by Gov. Hugh White and Mississippi's congressional delegation, won a fight in the Resolutions Committee last night.

A resolution offered by Stevenson backers was adopted by an 11-5 vote after Eisenhower members brought about the omission of a clause endorsing the Illinois governor.

The resolution, as revised, called simply for the electors of the State Democratic Convention to be pledged to Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama without a state party endorsement.

The resolution was subject to revision, rejection or adoption today.

Ike To Tour In South By Plane

Expects To Swing Some Dixie States

DENVER (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, planning a flying tour into the traditionally Democratic South, reportedly is convinced he can swing some Southern states to the Republican column in the November presidential election.

The GOP nominee, it was learned, is arranging for a swift tour by plane which will take him into perhaps a dozen major cities in at least seven Southern states.

The Dixie campaign tour — unprecedented for a Republican presidential candidate — is scheduled tentatively to start Sept. 2, the day after Labor Day.

Eisenhower is planning to fly south from New York and spend two or 2½ days in a whirlwind invasion of Democratic strongholds.

The decision to campaign in the South was made after the general conferred here a week ago with an eight-state delegation of Dixie supporters.

They reportedly convinced him the Republicans have a chance to crack the Solid South for the first time since 1928, when Herbert Hoover did it without personally campaigning there.

Eisenhower's projected Southern swing by plane will be a departure from the traditional whistle-stop campaigning by train. However, he will turn later to that type of travel.

Eisenhower aides planning the Dixie trip say privately it is likely the general will speak in:

Richmond, Va.; Atlanta, Ga.; Birmingham, Ala.; Miami and Jacksonville, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; Dallas, Ft. Worth and Houston, Tex.; and Memphis, Tenn.

The Birmingham speech will take him into the home state of the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Sen. John J. Sparkman.

And the tentative plans for visiting three Texas cities underscore the Eisenhower camp's optimism about carrying his native state.

Speeches in several of the Southern cities will be at the airports. Additional cities with airports able to accommodate the big DC3 plane in which the general will travel may be put on the itinerary later.

Present plans call for an overnight stop in Miami, either Sept. 2 or 3.

Plans for the Southern tour came to light after an announcement over the weekend that Eisenhower will make a major campaign address on world peace in Philadelphia Sept. 4. It will be carried nationally on television and radio.

Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee and Eisenhower's campaign manager, also announced that the general will make a farm policy speech at the National Plowing Contest at Kasson, Minn., Sept. 6.

On Sept. 9 there will be another major address by the general in Indianapolis.

He will travel by air in filling all of those engagements. Along about Sept. 15 he probably will set out by train on a whistle-stop swing around the country.

Invasion Of Cattle In Guadalcanal Is Begun

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — A new invasion is being readied for Guadalcanal, where U. S. Marines first turned back the Japs' southward push in World War II.

This week the vessel Kurimaru leaves Suva with cattle to start a beef-raising program on the island.

The Japs and the Americans ate almost all of Guadalcanal's cattle. The new invaders will include three bulls and 40 Hereford heifers.

The British government—Guadalcanal is a British protectorate—is financing the program.

Trapped Man Watches Tide Creep In, Stop

BURNHAM-ON-SEA, England (AP) — For 10 hours Brig. John Ross, trapped chest deep in mud on the beach here, watched the tide slowly creep toward him.

When the water was only a yard away, the tide began to fall.

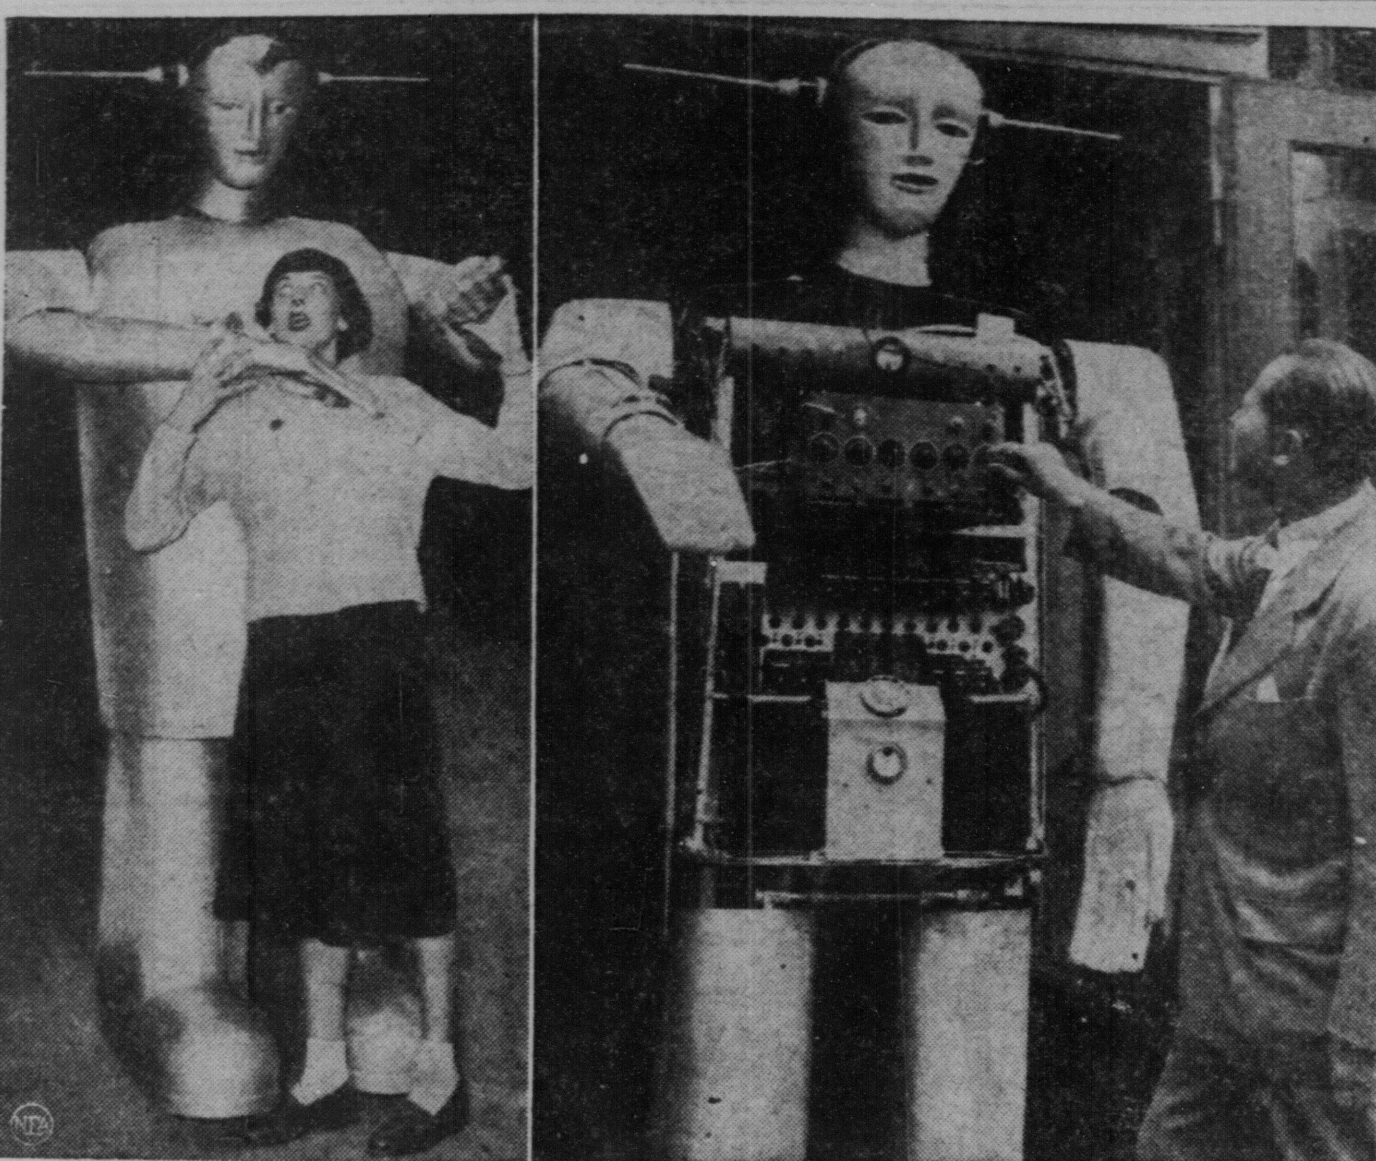

Ross, who sank in the mud after falling off the sea wall yesterday, eventually was rescued by a fire brigade which arrived with ropes and wooden planks.

Nurse Who Killed Niece To Be Electrocuted

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Murderer's row at Kilby Prison—which few women have ever even seen—has a curtailed cell in readiness for one scheduled to die there Sept. 26.

Grim, impassive Mrs. Earle Dennison, a 54-year-old nurse convicted at Wetumpka Saturday for the poison slaying of her 2-year-old niece, is expected to be transferred there today.

The law requires the Alabama Supreme Court to review her sentence.

Because the prison has no facilities for condemned women, Warden C. P. Buford picked a special cell and draped it with curtains to insure "privacy."

Youth Held For Killing Father In Fist Fight

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — State police said they would charge a 17-year-old boy with murder today, accusing him of beating his father to death in a fist fight.

According to police, Richard Thompson, 46, was killed by his son, Wilbur Okey Thompson, 17, after a dispute arose when Richard told his father that Thompson's divorced wife thought her teen-aged daughter was spending too much time away from home. The girl made her home with Thompson.

Police Cpl. H. E. Martin said young Thompson would be charged with murder.

Legislator To Seek Anti-Corruption Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), co-author of the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946, plans to push another reorganization measure next year — an "anti-corruption" bill.

The measure, which he offered unsuccessfully last session, would set up a blue ribbon civil service system in the Internal Revenue

Bureau and "reward administrators for getting along with fewer instead of more employees," he said today.

Korean Front-Line Vets Soon To Start Receiving Back Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military experts said today it will take them a long time to determine how many Americans have been under fire in Korea.

They will soon start paying $45 to tens of thousands of veterans for every month in which they spent six days within range of enemy guns.

But the job of sorting out and deciding claims will involve a mountain of paper work and a long time lag, experts in both Congress and the Pentagon say.

Congress approved this special combat pay shortly before adjourning in early July. The payment is retroactive to the start of the Korean campaign for those qualifying.

Pentagon officials estimate it will cost between 250 million and 300 million dollars.

The measure applies chiefly to infantryman of the Army and Marines. Sen. Moody (D-Mich.), the sponsor, said the main purpose is to give hazardous duty pay to men in the foxholes, thus putting them on equal footing in this respect with fliers, submariners and paratroopers.

Critics said the bill would discriminate against many combat veterans unable to meet its requirements.

Nobody knows yet how many servicemen and ex-servicemen are eligible. To qualify, they must have spent any six days in one month under conditions subjecting them to enemy fire.

Those now serving in Korea will get their July payments as part of their August checks, Pentagon officials said. In each case, the commanding officer will have to certify that the individual was attached for the required time to a unit designated as having been within enemy range.

The problems become more involved, the experts say, when they

Mitigated Blessing

The prompt, almost hasty endorsement of Adlai Stevenson by CIO, with AFL expected to do the same thing, is a mitigated, political blessing.

While Stevenson apparently sought the endorsements and is in no position to be coy about it now that he has it, union endorsements do not strengthen candidates who must rely on broad appeal.

They earmark the endorsed candidate as either the prisoner of labor unions or as one who will be called a traitor for refusing to be a prisoner. Franklin D. Roosevelt learned how that worked when he tangled with John L. Lewis. From that day forward, the czar of the United Mine Workers was his relentless enemy.

Gov. Stevenson would have to incur the charge of ingratitude to clear himself of the charge of selling out to the minority which hopes to take over the Democratic party. His situation is not enviable. Besides voters who have nothing in common with an organization which was started with the help of Communists, employed a Communist as its chief counsel for many years and only cleaned house reluctantly after the Taft-Hartley Act was passed, there are many other voters who have nothing in common with the CIO's political and social strategies.

These include many captive members of the CIO—men and women who must pay dues to it in order to hold jobs. It includes many non-unionized workers frightened of the possibility of nation-wide compulsory unionism.

Voters like these are automatically barred from supporting any political candidate who either believes in everything the CIO believes in, or is so poorly informed he does not know the price of the support he is accepting.

Adlai Stevenson, from the standpoint of winning the 1952 election, has sustained his first unfavorable break. The CIO chieftains cannot make their members support him. But they can make a great many others refuse to give any further consideration to supporting him.

Whoops, Mr. Secretary

Doubts about Charles Sawyer's sympathy with the Truman administration are deepening. On top of his refusal to add anything to his chief's folly in the steel dispute, the secretary of commerce now has spoken out of turn against more inflation.

Specifically, he has suggested that shrill-voiced bureaucrats screaming about a new round of inflation may be singing for their supper. He has doubted for the record that either the steel settlement or the drought is going to justify any price increases.

Then he has done the unforgivable. He has suggested that the reason for so much yammering about a new round of inflation may be the Truman administration's fear that there may be no new round of inflation forthcoming; the boys are trying to talk it up.

Secretary Sawyer is in a good spot to know what is going on in politics and business. He knows that inflation is as fundamental a purpose of the Fair Deal as the multi-billion spending which makes inflation inevitable. He knows that when inflation ceases, deflation will be the alternative and that deflation could spell defeat for the party in power.

Mr. Sawyer is not interested in singing for his supper in Fair Deal politics. He is the first top-ranking government official to hint at what all officials must be thinking about 24 hours a day—that the gravy train is losing momentum but must be kept rolling until the first Tuesday in November.

Chinese 'Money'

One of the most puzzling unknowns of China's "conquest" by the Communists is what Moscow promised Mao Tse-tung to lure him into the Korean war.

The bulk of the casualties being exacted by the United Nations as the price of continuing an aggressive action which cannot be won are Chinese.

It is with this living Chinese "money" that the Kremlin is buying influence over the lives and affairs of the Chinese people. When they finally have paid the price in their own lives, they will have sold themselves into bondage to another state.

Traditionally, this is something the Chinese always have refused to do—something its international neighbors kept it from doing with the open-door policy.

Half a generation ago when Communists tried to take over the Chinese people and their vast territory with Chiang Kai-shek as their quisling, they failed. Chiang did not relish the quisling role. He turned against his patrons.

The Chinese troops being mowed down in Korea are not Communists. They are mostly young Chinese farm boys being marched to death for the glory of Red Russia—an irony of current history which surely is not being ignored by millions of Chinese who have inherited a tradition of mistrusting Russia.

If you always use the golden rule, it's easy to measure up!

List Of 500 Materials Banned For Russia

Amendments to the list of strategic items banned for shipment to Soviet Russia and its satellite countries will be announced within the next month.

It will increase the number of banned materials from the original 313 to nearly 500. And thus will the net be drawn tighter by the 61 cooperating non-Communist countries to choke off the Soviet bloc's war-making potential.

When the first of these lists of strategic materials was drawn up in 1949, it contained only 150 items—principally implements of war. The next year the list grew to 200. Last year it was 265.

The full list is of course too long for presentation here. In broad categories, however, it now covers all munitions, everything used in the production of atomic energy, metal-working machinery, chemical and petroleum producing and refining equipment, electric power generating equipment, general industrial equipment, transportation equipment, electronic and precision instruments, and strategic metals, chemicals, petroleum and rubber products.

These lists are made public by main headings. Soviet purchasing agents know all the categories of military supply items which they must cross off their open shopping lists and try to procure only by smuggling or on the black market. But a certain surprise element must be maintained in this economic cold warfare. If a bit of intelligence comes in that Soviet buyers are in the market for, say, platinum mesh for vacuum tubes, then the game becomes one of closing to them all sources of supply for electronic equipment.

TASK FORCES of U. S. government experts and engineers from American private industry are working constantly to revise the list of strategic items they would keep from the Soviet. But the ban is not complete.

If this were a hot war, the compiling of a list of articles banned for trade would be easy. It would include everything. This was the rule applied by the U. S. Board of Economic Warfare in the war against Germany and Japan. And there is no regard for costs.

But in this present cold war, there is no desire to cut off all trade with the Communist countries. Some trade between East and West Europe is considered necessary to promote western European recovery.

Italy, for instance, must have wheat and coal to live. And somehow she must earn the money to buy wheat and coal. So she is allowed to sell citrus fruits to the Soviet.

Not all machinery is banned for shipment to the Soviet either. Drilling machines that will bore up to three holes simultaneously are allowed to go through. When it gets to four holes and above, however, that's considered precision machinery and is banned.

Shipments of goods from European countries to Soviet bloc countries, made in accordance with trade agreements in effect before the embargoes on strategic materials were put into effect, also have to be allowed to go through.

That was the rule that had to be applied in the case of the Danish tanker recently delivered to the Soviet Union. It had been ordered in 1946, before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was set up. Money had been paid by the Soviet on the contract.

WHILE THE U. S. tried to persuade the Danish government not to make delivery, the Danes felt they had to live up to their contract. The only alternative might have been for the U. S. to buy the tanker, and it didn't particularly want it. So the Danes made delivery and President Truman ruled that Denmark should not be barred from receiving further U. S. aid, as provided for in the Battle Act.

Often the determining factor for the United States in trying to break up trade between a European country and the Soviet has been whether it should have the American taxpayers provide commodities which the western European countries would be deprived of in exchange.

For instance, western Europe has been getting about 25 million tons of coal a year from U. S., nine million tons from Poland. If these western European countries should refuse to sell their products to Poland, they might be unable to earn enough money to buy that much more coal from the U. S. The alternative would be to have the U. S. make up this coal deficiency for free.

So which becomes more important—shutting off trade in strategic materials to the Iron Curtain countries, or saving the U. S. taxpayers some money?

Over the long haul, it isn't such a tremendous amount of trade between East and West that has to be blocked. Estimates put the figure at less than a billion dollars a year. But it's a tremendously important billion dollars worth.

When the Russians called their Moscow trade conference last year, they had a reason. The allied strategic list of banned exports to Russia was having its effect. And the Communists wanted to let out some propaganda screams against it.

Historic Preview

By TRUMAN TWILL

When it's all said and done, the greatest accomplishment of the 20th century will be the improvement in the median level of mankind in the United States.

It was as though American society had been thrown into a gigantic concrete mixer, with the top continuously falling into the bottom and the bottom continuously coming to the top.

The only differences which meant anything were those which occurred in individuals during the span of their own lifetimes. If a man behaved like a gentleman, he was by that token a gentleman, though his father might have made no pretensions to good behavior.

If a human being possessed the mind of a scholar, he was a scholar, though his parents might have been unable to read and write.

Respectability became a matter of personal behavior, not a presumption based on family names and the accomplishments of forebears. Even poverty, that oldest and most nagging of handicaps, was modified drastically.

There were poor people in the United States, some with money, some without. Some of the poorest had so much money they carried it in baskets, yet were pitiable creatures in comparison with others who had no money but great riches.

All this was an unfathomable mystery to ignorant promoters of class warfare who had learned too much from books, not enough from observation. Everytime they bumped into reality, they were flabbergasted because it had a different shape and size from what they had been led to believe by men like Karl Marx, who never had seen mass production, social security, labor unions, free public schools and the dignity of man.

After indoctrinating a generation of mentally-imprisoned subjects with the claim that Negroes in the United States were too downtrodden to hold up their heads, the Revolutionaries had no explanation for Negro champions in the Olympic Games, for Negroes playing baseball, for Negroes on the boards of institutions of higher learning, for Negro boxing champions and star football players.

Professional men and women, more often than not, came from families of mechanics and artisans. On the other hand, it was not uncommon for mechanics and artisans to come from the families of professionals.

Scientists and top-ranking militarists, men of unusual distinction during the 20th century, traced their ancestry more often than not to what once would have been called peasants and proletarians.

Toward the end of the 20th century, the misdemeanor finally became a major crime. Anyone who refused to acknowledge the existence of reality barred himself from a hearing by his contemporaries. This automatically eliminated nine out of ten politicians, besides all agitators yammering for a return to the weird sociological structures of the Dark Ages. The 21st century was begun under more favorable auspices than ever had existed in all history. Men at last had learned to deal with what is, instead of what was.

So They Say

"They Went Thataway"

It's A Well-Paying Job

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

It used to be that the presidency was a great honor but brought little revenue to the incumbent. Presidents used to find it hard to make ends meet out of wages paid by the American government.

Those days have changed. Under the Independent Officers Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, the President of the United States gets $150,000, including an expense allowance of $50,000 on which he does not pay any income tax. That expense allowance is a sheer non-taxable gift, because the very next paragraph of the act deals with salaries and expenses. The President gets $1,907,643 to cover salaries and expenses of the White House office, the total being expendable as he likes, on certificate from the President without further audit. Also the President's travel and entertainment expenses are not subject to audit.

The President is also allowed $1,000,000 to use at his discretion in emergency matters, like sending agents abroad for such purposes as he considers necessary. He also gets $341,200 plus $26,000 to take care of the White House and its grounds and some more traveling expenses.

ALTOGETHER, this is a goodly sum of money and out of it the President, even though he must spend a great deal of it, ought to be able to save a penny or so, which is more than most of us can do these days, particularly as we are squeezed between high taxes and the high cost of living. The President's greatest advantage is having about $50,000 of straight cash payment to which no income tax is applied. He is the only citizen of this country who enjoys this advantage. If he holds on to that money, he can save at least $200,000 in a four-year term, or $400,000 should he be re-elected. Today, hardly anyone can manage to save that kind of money on a salary. It is real riches.

In connection with the possibility of savings, I saw a table the other day which is most interesting:

"Chart, based on Bureau of Labor Statistics figures, shows how purchasing power of dollar has declined since 1935-39 base period."

	1935-39	1943	1946	1952
Food	$1.00	.72	.63	.43
Apparel	$1.00	.77	.63	.45
Rent	$1.00	.92	.91	.70
House furnish'g	$1.00	.79	.63	.49
Overall consumer dollar	$1.00	.81	.71	.53

The reason rent is so out of line is that rent control has more or less kept real estate from following the general economy of the nation. It has also had the effect of increasing the quantity of obsolescent buildings in most cities and has lessened the activity of private endeavor in real estate, except for life insurance companies which go into the building of architectural monstrosities known as "projects."

These are supposed to be low-renting but are generally so restricted to the private notions of the owners and managers as to be, at times, unpleasant for dwelling purposes. Imagine not being permitted to drive a nail into a wall to hang a picture!

THE FACT is that the overall value of the American dollar is 53 cents and if we continue high government spending, it is bound to go lower. It is interesting that, according to this table, food has suffered most in the richest agricultural country in the world, the price of food going so high that in 1952, it is possible to get no more than 43 cents worth for the dollar.

This table reflects seriously on the actual value of wage increases, which, while they keep going up, do not produce more value in purchases. When the worker's wife takes a $10 bill to the market, she only gets $4.30 of food as compared with the 1935-39 period.

It would make an interesting debate if Messrs. Eisenhower and Stevenson could get onto this subject: How do you plan to make a dollar in money equal a dollar in purchasing power? Maybe one of them knows how to do it. If he does, he is worth what it costs to pay an American to be our President.

Q. & A. For Korean Veterans

Q—What's the general rule covering officers' uniform allowances under the new law?

A—It applies to Army and Air Force reserve and National Guard officers who were recalled to duty after June 26, 1950. You are eligible if you failed to receive the original "initial uniform allowance" of $250 for your last tour of duty or if you hadn't been on extended active duty for two years or more when you started your last tour.

Q—Does rank have anything to do with officers' uniform allowance?

A—No.

Q—How much is the officers' uniform allowance?

A—It is $100.

Q—When will the Army and Air Force begin paying this allowance?

A—Probably not until sometime early in 1953.

Q—What kind of an application will you have to make for the allowance? Or will it be mailed to you automatically?

A—It's likely that you will have to make some kind of an application. However, the form has not been made yet and the details of how this money will be paid haven't been worked out, in detail.

Q—Does the uniform allowance for officers apply to the Navy?

A—No.

Q—Do you have to have served in Korea in order to get in under the uniform allowance?

A—No.

Q—What about warrant officers? Are they eligible for the uniform allowance provided to officers?

A—Yes.

Q—I got my uniform allowance when I got my commission during World War II. And I was able to use the uniforms I already had when I was called to active duty for Korea. Is the uniform allowance still due me?

A. Yes, if you hadn't been on active duty for two years previous.

Q. Can you get a loan guaranteed to buy feed for your farm animals?

A. Yes.

Q. Does VA make a loan directly to a veteran?

A. Not usually. Vets are supposed to make their own arrangements for the loan through the usual channels—banks, savings and loan associations and the like. Under certain conditions, however, VA can make a few direct loans to vets who want to buy or build a home, or build or improve a farmhouse. These VA loans may be made only in certain areas of the country where four percent GI loan money is not available from private sources.

Q. What are the down-payment requirements on buying a GI home with a guaranteed loan?

A. For houses costing less than $7,000 only closing costs need be paid in cash. For higher-priced houses, down payments are computed on a sliding scale. For example, the down payment on a $10,000 house is $580; for a $12,000 house, it is $900, and for a $15,000 house it is $2550.

Q. What about the loan privileges of a Korean vet who is also a World War II vet? Can he get a double loan?

A. In the case of World War II vets who have returned to active duty, their unused loan entitlement under the World War II GI bill will be cancelled upon being released from service. But they will receive new entitlement under the new law.

Q. What about the interest rate on GI loans?

A. The interest rate may not exceed four per cent a year on the unpaid balance. Fees and charges are also fixed by VA.

Q. Can you get a loan in order to paint your house?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you get a loan in connection with getting married?

A. No, unless it's for a house to move into or a new business.

After January, President Truman will discover a lot of things that will be expensive novelties for him. For example, if he wants to use up those loud shirts he has worn in Florida each winter, he'll have to pay his own expenses on the vacation.

Noon Luncheon Report

Elmer Twitchell attended the recent Stevenson-Truman luncheon disguised as a waiter, and has just given us a full report. "It was a pronounced Democratic success," he says. "Everybody urged sacrifice and then took second and third helpings."

"I was puzzled by the briefing of Adlai by General Omar Bradley, Bedell Smith and various military notables immediately before the lunch," Elmer reports. "It didn't seem to me that anything on the menu was going to be that dangerous. I heard of no rumors that Russia had infiltrated the White House kitchen."

ELMER SAYS the luncheon went off quietly, if you overlook the period of the soup course. "Vice President Barkley was not present. Not because he was too old to eat—he had been assured Harry wanted him, but was afraid he might switch to somebody else at the last minute," Mr. Twitchell continued. "Secretary Acheson opened the luncheon with a few words in which he outlined our luncheon policy at home and abroad. He expressed a belief good lunches were essential to peace and said Europe and Asia would be lost without them. He also declared firmly that he foresaw no crisis with Red China because there was no chop suey on the menu. Senator Sparkman was present and kept lauding southern fried chicken and hominy grits to hold the southern vote, but got in an occasional plug for Yankee pot roast to hold the North."

"Governor Stevenson took apple pie with ice cream for dessert, just to keep the Lincoln touch. Everytime Truman mentioned a whistle-stop campaign for him, Adlai would begin reciting poetry. Finally Harry said bluntly, 'I'm all set to stump the country for you.' I thought the governor would choke. Averell Harriman was present, but having lunch with Stevenson was no novelty. Averell had had a bite with him in Chicago and had even cooked up something with and for him out there if you remember. Bob Lovett, secretary of defense, seemed extra nervous when anybody began gesticulating with a knife. With forks it seemed the usual Washington thing. Everybody took plenty of gravy and buttered his bread on both sides to show they were New Dealers through and through. The tips? Leon Keyserling gave every waiter $100,000 in cash. He said it didn't make any difference to the taxpayers as they owed it to themselves."

WE BID on a horse at the Saratoga sales but got tossed out for arguing for a better trade-in on the old skinner. . . . Farouk eats 10 eggs for breakfast. . . . (He pyramids 'em, the old gambler.) . . . That blonde model who got her poodle back in a court action this week certainly had a pooch that could flush a lot of photographers. . . . When "Halley" won at 4 to 1 this week we hear Costello and Erickson were kept off by a report he was still wearing blinkers. . . . A paper partly owned by Adlai Stevenson, and where he once worked, has refused to come out for him for President. . . . Abe Lincoln in a similar situation would have ceased splitting rails and headed for the newspaper with the axe. . . . Herman Hickman will continue, we hope, as stated, in some advisory capacity at Yale. . . . With Bob Hall, Charlie Loftus and others in the newer Athletic Association regime, he helped immeasurably in the new concept for winning all-around good will. . . . (Why shouldn't Herman go on a cigar program when he had such a "PIPE" at New Haven?)

"A most important element responsible for inflation is the fear on the part of the public that prices will go up. Statistics predicting such rises are not based on fact and cause inflation," Roger Putnam. In case you find your dollar buys little or nothing, it's all newspaper talk.

The newspaper and newsreel photographers overdo it pretty much wherever notables are gathered, and we think Governor Stevenson made a priceless crack recently when a swarm of photographers appeared for the 20th time for "More gestures, Governor!" "If I gave you the gesture that comes to mind you would not be able to publish it," he replied. Set 'em up in the next alley!

Eczema--Dermatitis Venenata-- Due To Sensitivity

True eczema or dermatitis venenata, as it should be called, is one of the allergies. In other words, this common skin condition is the result of unusual sensitivity to which the skin comes in contact.

It is likely to be the first sign of allergy in a child, who may, but does not necessarily, develop other allergies later.

Almost anything can cause eczema in a sensitive person. Plants and weeds of all varieties are common sources of the condition. Eczema has even been traced to the ink of comic strips, to matchboxes and to practically every substance used in industry and in the home.

Eczema is not only an annoying condition, but carries dangers for something even more serious. It has been claimed that almost six out of 10 children who have allergic eczema which is untreated, will later develop asthma or hay fever.

Truce Talks Recess To End Tomorrow

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—United Nations and Communist truce delegates meet tomorrow at Panmunjom, ending a week-long recess that produced no visible hint of progress.

The delegates are scheduled to meet at 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. Monday, EST) in the faded conference tent.

They probably will pick up right where they left off last week—arguing fruitlessly over prisoner of war exchange, the only issue blocking an armistice for Korea.

Since July 26 the truce teams have met only once a week. At each session, they called another seven-day recess.

The communists are insisting that 116,000 Red prisoners, including all 20,000 Chinese in Allied hands, be returned.

The U. N. offers only to return 83,000 captives, including 6,400 Chinese. The U. N. says the rest of the prisoners in U. N. camps declare they will fight to keep from being sent back to North Korea or Red China.

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

Power Steering now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive*—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:

Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Mary Mullins Becomes Bride Of Darrell Hollingsworth Boyd

Wearing a classic gown of white slipper satin, Miss Mary Elizabeth Mullins was one of the loveliest brides of the summer season when she and Darrell Hollingsworth Boyd of Winnetka, Ill., exchanged their wedding vows in a beautiful candle-light service at 8 p.m. Saturday in talismans roses, Mrs. Dexter's bouquet was of yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mullins chose a beige floor length dress with lace bodice and a skirt of silk chiffon, while Mrs. Boyd was dressed in a gown of pale yellow silk chiffon. Both wore orchid corsages.

Brother Is Best Man

The groom chose as best man, his twin brother, Denman H. Boyd of Winnetka. Ushers were William H. Mullins, brother of the bride, Richard Batten of Chicago, Wilson M. Brown of Richmond, Va., and Willard McNitt and Russell P. Stern Jr. of Winnetka.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 230 relatives and friends took place in the Mullins' South Lincoln Avenue home. The bride and groom and their parents received guests before the living room fireplace which was banked with white gladioli and huckleberry.

The beautifully appointed buffet table was in a large marquee set up in the garden. The table was laid with a white organdy cloth over a frosty green taffeta undershirt and decorated with vases of white gladioli and tall white tapers in silver candelabra. The large tiered wedding cake graced a separate table in the same green and white motif.

Music for dancing was played by the Eugene Neil orchestra from Pittsburgh.

When the new Mrs. Boyd left on their wedding trip to Lake Minnetonka in Northern Minnesota, she was wearing a light brown tweed suit trimmed with white pique, accented by white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. After Oct. 1, the couple will be at home in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Boyd is a graduate of the Emma Willard School in Troy, N. Y., and Wells College in Aurora, N. Y. During the past year she has been on the teaching staff of the Hockaday School for Girls in Dallas, Tex.

Princeton Graduate

Mr. Boyd graduated from the North Shore Country Day School in Winnetka, and from Princeton University in the class of '49, after service in the navy. He is presently employed by the Minnesota Mining Co. of St. Paul, Minn.

Among the many friends and relatives who attended the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John McSweeney of Wooster; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilhelm, Mr. and Mrs. James McSweeney, Mrs. Kneila Bolger O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin King and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fulton of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willey, Mr. and Mrs. Ledlie Young, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, Miss Grace Spahn, Mr. and Mrs. Aims Coney Jr., Owen Kraft and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crandall of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. William Luckner and children of Lancaster, Pa.

Miss Olivia Ray of Charleston, W. Va.; Miss Geraldine Palmer of New York City; Miss Ann Strom Page of Toledo; Miss Winnie Kendall of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Paul Jones of Youngstown; Robert Spayd of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Reed Frickham of Chicago; William Gibson of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Ashly Fulton of Sarasota, Fla.; Mrs. Richard Batten of Winnetka and Mrs. Wilson M. Brown of Richmond, Va.

The attendants were dressed in identical full length gowns of frosty green iridescent taffeta with matching stoles, and full skirts fashioned with large taffeta puffs at the waist. They wore short face veils of matching green attached to green velvet caps and carried bouquets of TEXTURE TELLS the story in coat fabrics this fall. Here, we show three fabrics getting top fashion emphasis. A brushed fleece (left) is used for this vertically-stitched loose coat by Harry Frechtel. High mandarin collar stresses the simple, vertical lines. Sleek, polished zibeline with high luster is cut (center) into a double-breasted coat by Bagedonow. Sleeves are convertible, can be worn pushed up. High-textured worsted boucle makes a town coat with natural lynx collar (right) designed by Dave Bellsey. Lines of the skirt are soft, are accented by stitched, hip-arching pleats.

Garden Show's Success Laid To Committees

To Mrs. George S. Jones and Mrs. Robert Rheutan and their committees of the Salem Garden Club and the Garden Study Club respectively goes the credit for the successful presentation of the Garden of Friendship show Thursday in the Masonic Temple.

The six women judged the arrangements and Miss Ruth Frazier of Cleveland and Mrs. R. G. Schulte of Brecksville awarded the show ribbons.

Proceeds from the show will be used by both clubs to further civic activities, such as plantings at city hall, Home for Aged Women, at the schools and Centennial Park, and to continue work on the bird sanctuary at the park.

The judges commented favorably on the horticulture, conservation and bird exhibits, which occupied an outstanding place in the show. Both clubs also were commended by the judges for the conservation exhibit.

Mrs. Russell Smith and Mrs. Martin Lee Roth are presidents of the Salem Garden Club and Garden Study Club respectively. Mrs. William Mackay was co-chairman and Mrs. R. R. Miller advisor.

Damascus Children Have Polio Fund Benefit

Marjorie June Hanna Married To David Stewart Wood Jr.

Many friends and relatives witnessed the solemn exchange of vows and rings by Miss Marjorie June Hanna and David Stewart Wood Jr. at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the quaint Winona Methodist Church.

Rev. Thomas Hammerton officiated at the ceremony, which took place amid an altar decorated with white asters and gladioli. Palms and ferns were accented in the candlelight of two candelabra.

Miss Hanna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanna of RD 4, Lisbon, and Mr. Wood is the son of David S. Wood Sr. of Dorchester, Mass., and the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Chase of Milton, Mass.

Seating the guests during the prelude of nuptial melodies were Mario Robana of Bridgeport, Conn., and Michael Mihailov of Marietta, Ga. Organist Mrs. Donald Dusenberry of Winona included "Always," "Because," "Liebestraum" and "O, Perfect Love" in the recital. Traditional wedding marches heralded the bridal procession.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown styled in white rose point lace over satin with a Peter Pan collar, on which was a design of seed pearls. The fitted bodice was accented by a row of tiny buttons to the waist and the bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil was of nylon illusion and fell from a cloche of satin and lace, also trimmed with a design of seed pearls.

Miss Hanna's bouquet was of white roses and carnations with streamers and ivy falling into a cascade. The silver sash which is given by her sorority for good luck was worn in her right shoe.

The bride chose as her matron of honor, Mrs. William Felton of Fredericksburg, Va., who was her college roommate.

Mrs. Felton wore a gown of orchid net over taffeta that was styled ballerina length. The fitted strapless bodice was topped by a net stole of the same color. Matchmaking and headbands were worn with rhinestones and seed pearls flecked through the headband.

Wearing identical gowns were bridesmaids Miss Sandra Church and Miss Nancy Trebilcock of Salem. The attendants all carried garden baskets of yellow roses and yellow daisies.

On the Beaver-Creek and Greenford road and about one mile from Millville and or state route 14 is to be found a large COLONIAL house, when it was built the carpenter had one thought in mind, STABILITY and it sure is exemplified here. 8 large rooms, 4 on each floor, 3 fire places, no bath, no furnace, but it does have electricity of sufficient power for an electric stove. Stone foundation, slate roof which is in excellent condition. 75 foot well of good water, old but well preserved shade trees, large tool house and 168 acres of rolling land. With the proper thought being applied this house can be modernized and developed into one of the finest country estates within miles of Salem. Know How To Use Rapid-Drying Durable Shellac Expanded Bath Plans Should Be Made Early

One of the least expensive of wood finishes, and one of the easiest to apply, is shellac. Any exposed wood is subject to deterioration, but clean, bare wood can be given two quick coats of thin shellac that will protect it indefinitely and bring out the wood's natural grain.

It is common practice to give floors, panelling and other woods two coats of rapid-drying, durable shellac in a single day.

However, proper thinning of shellac—a vital part of its correct application—is not commonly known among non-professionals. Shellac should seldom be used as it comes out of the can, but should be thinned with a high-grade denatured alcohol.

Most widely sold shellacs are called "five-pound cut" and "four-pound cut." That means they consist of four or five pounds of shellac gum dissolved or "cut" to each gallon of pure alcohol.

But these mixtures should be thinned with denatured alcohol for practically all work. For instance, shellac on floors should be applied not heavier than in two-pound cut.

HERE ARE instructions for converting shellac by thinning with alcohol:

Five-lb. cut to 3-lb. cut— $\frac{1}{2}$

For ordinary work use: 1 qt. SHELLAC + $\frac{1}{2}$ pt. ALCOHOL

For very thin undercoat use: 1 qt. SHELLAC + 2 qts. ALCOHOL

WHEN PROPERLY "cut" and carefully applied to clean, well-sandpapered surfaces, shellac gives a lustrous and long-lasting finish.

5-lb. cut to 2-lb. cut—1 quart alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 5-lb. cut to 1-lb. cut—two-thirds gallon alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 3-lb. cut— $\frac{1}{2}$ pint alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 2-lb. cut— $\frac{1}{4}$ quart alcohol to 1 quart shellac; 4-lb. cut to 1-lb. cut—2 quarts alcohol to 1 quart shellac.

To prepare furniture for shellac coats, remove the old finish with a paint or varnish remover, sponge thoroughly with turpentine to remove traces of the chemical and allow the wood to dry.

Smooth the surface with No. 00 steel wool, followed by No. 00 sandpaper, rubbing with the grain and wiping afterwards. Same treatment for new wood. Apply stain, if desired.

Then apply a thin coat of shellac, at least two-pound cut, working the liquid with the grain with a fine brush. Allow three hours for drying. Sandpaper the first coat lightly and dust it off. For the second coat use a two-pound cut, being careful not to overlap when brushing—flow shellacked sections together. For a final polish, hand rub the surface with a paste wax.

BADLY WORN WOOD can also be given a protective coating, using this same method.

Thorough sanding with steel wool or No. $\frac{1}{2}$ sandpaper before finishing is necessary for new floors. Old floors should have previous finish removed by sanding machine. All traces of wax should be eliminated before applying shellac in two-pound cut.

Allow three hours' drying time between first two coats; overnight drying of the second, if a third coat is desired.

Shellac is known also as a paint or lacquer base and is recognized as an excellent undercoat for wax or varnish.

Shellac brushes can be cleaned by soaking in alcohol.

Home bathroom expansion should be planned when the house is built. Costs for increasing such facilities are often unnecessarily high, according to a home remodeling report by the Tile Council of America because provision for extra plumbing was not "roughed in" when the house was originally constructed.

Failure to install extra drain and water piping in the walls when the house is built too frequently results in expensive tearing-out of walls when powder rooms, basement toilets, or second shower facilities must be added due to family growth.

THE REPORT also makes these other recommendations concerning foresight in bathroom planning:

Using durable materials such as tile for the bathroom walls and floor avoids the necessity of costly resurfacing when the house is several years old. The same long-range economy is suggested for plumbing fixtures and piping.

It is wise to estimate future water needs accurately, and install a system which will deliver adequate supplies when additional tubs, toilets and sinks are put in.

Initial installation of compartmented facilities probably will be adequate for the family's needs for a long time. Such equipment usually consists of a bath-and-a-half in the space usually allotted to the single bathroom, and includes a separate toilet room, a tub-shower combination, and an individual shower stall. These facilities not only share the original installation of tile, but also the plumbing lines, thus cutting costs.

Conservative selection of wall, fixture and floor colors is important in the long run. "Decorator" choices of which a family may tire easily should be avoided.

Outdoor games and a wiener roast were enjoyed. A short business session was held with the president Mrs. E. J. Savage in charge. Contest prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lester Spear, Mrs. James Dickson and Mrs. E. J. Savage. Next month the class is planning to hold a dinner and theatre party.

A—The answer is Warfarin, a poison introduced two years ago by the Wisconsin Research Foundation. Follow directions by the maker. Highly recommended by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Q—We have access to a constant supply of sawdust. Do you advise its use as a means of improving a heavy clay-soil vegetable garden?

A—Yes. In breaking down into organic matter, sawdust makes heavy soil easier to work and often solves the problem.

Home Loan Aids Repair Bill Payments

The toughest part of all this home repair and improvement business is that you have to pay for it. No matter how badly you need more rooms for a growing family, no matter how urgent a new roof may be, or a new heating plant, if you can't pay for them you have to borrow the money, pay interest on it and, eventually, pay it back.

In this day of wonder-drugs, wonder-fertilizers and what-not, you'd wonder that somebody couldn't figure out a wonder home loan—one that would take the pain out of the family budget.

Well the experts think they have. They call it an "open-end" or "additional advance" mortgage.

Under this scheme, if you live almost any place outside of Texas, all you do is to go to the banker where you have been paying off your home mortgage, tell him what improvement you have in mind—new kitchen equipment, or even carpets—and he gives you the wherewithal.

Of course, you still pay, but you don't feel it so much.

IN THE PAST, many families have gone into deep water financially through installment buying and its heavy carrying charges. This very thing, which bankers call "over-extension of short-term credit," has been blamed by a Veterans Administration loan guaranty officer for at least half of the veterans' home foreclosures in one area. To help people repair and modernize their homes, Title I of the National Housing Act provides for loans which can be paid off on the monthly installment basis. These are popularly called FHA remodeling or modernization loans. You can find out about them from your own bank and you can take three years to pay them off.

But these are still short-term credit. Such a loan for $1,000 costs $31.90 per month to pay off with interest over three years.

This is often too much of a load on the average family budget. Consider the finding of an expert, Perry Prentice, publisher of Architectural Forum, House and Home, the Magazine of Building. He says:

"A typical home owner may already be paying $57 a month on a $7,100 mortgage. Adding an additional payment of $31.90 would bring his monthly payment to more than $88. This outside monthly payment is clearly out of the reach of most home owners."

"Thus," Mr. Prentice explains, "needed property repair and improvements are neglected or cut down and the hard-pressed owner is obliged to settle for the cheapest materials and the most inadequate equipment available."

IN CONTRAST to the short-term $31.90 per month for a three-year loan of $1,000, when a mortgage still has 10 years to run, the same $1,000 can be spread into monthly payments of $10.61 at 5 per cent.

If you figure up $31.90 per month for three years, you'll find you would pay $148.40 for the use of $1,000. Spreading it over 10 years at $10.61 per month, you pay a total of $273.20 in interest.

However, if you figure your enjoyment of a $1,000 improvement over a period of 10 years worth $27.32 per year—or a little more than $2 per month—the interest charge is offset. Most people seem to prefer to think in terms of low monthly payments rather than in comparatively staggering amounts, anyway.

Lenders in general are enthusiastic about the "open-end" mortgage idea. When home owners have their mortgages partly paid off, the security of the property is considerably enhanced. The borrowers have established themselves as sound risks and open the way for more investment. Last year, savings and loan associations alone advanced $197 million worth of additional advances on old mortgages.

ONE HANDICAP in popularizing the idea has been the need and cost of title searches. In northern New Jersey, title insurance for a $1,000 additional advance might cost as much as $110. In Pittsburgh, as much as $180. However, a title company headed by Senator Irving M. Ives of New York has decided to circumvent searches any place in the country by substituting owners' affidavits, certifying that no liens have been placed on the property. This procedure will be done for $5 per $1,000, minimum fee $10.

What are the bugs in this kind of financing? We called up C. Harry Minners, president of the Bankers Federal Savings and Loan Association in New York.

"What do you think of the open-end mortgage?" we asked Minners, who is known as a wise and friendly counsellor to borrowers.

"Wonderful!" he replied. "It's absolutely wonderful!"

"Wonderful for whom?" we asked. "For the bankers or for the home owners?"

"Wonderful for both," Minners said, especially for the home owner. It gives him an opportunity to enjoy many of the so-called luxuries without hamstringing his family budget."

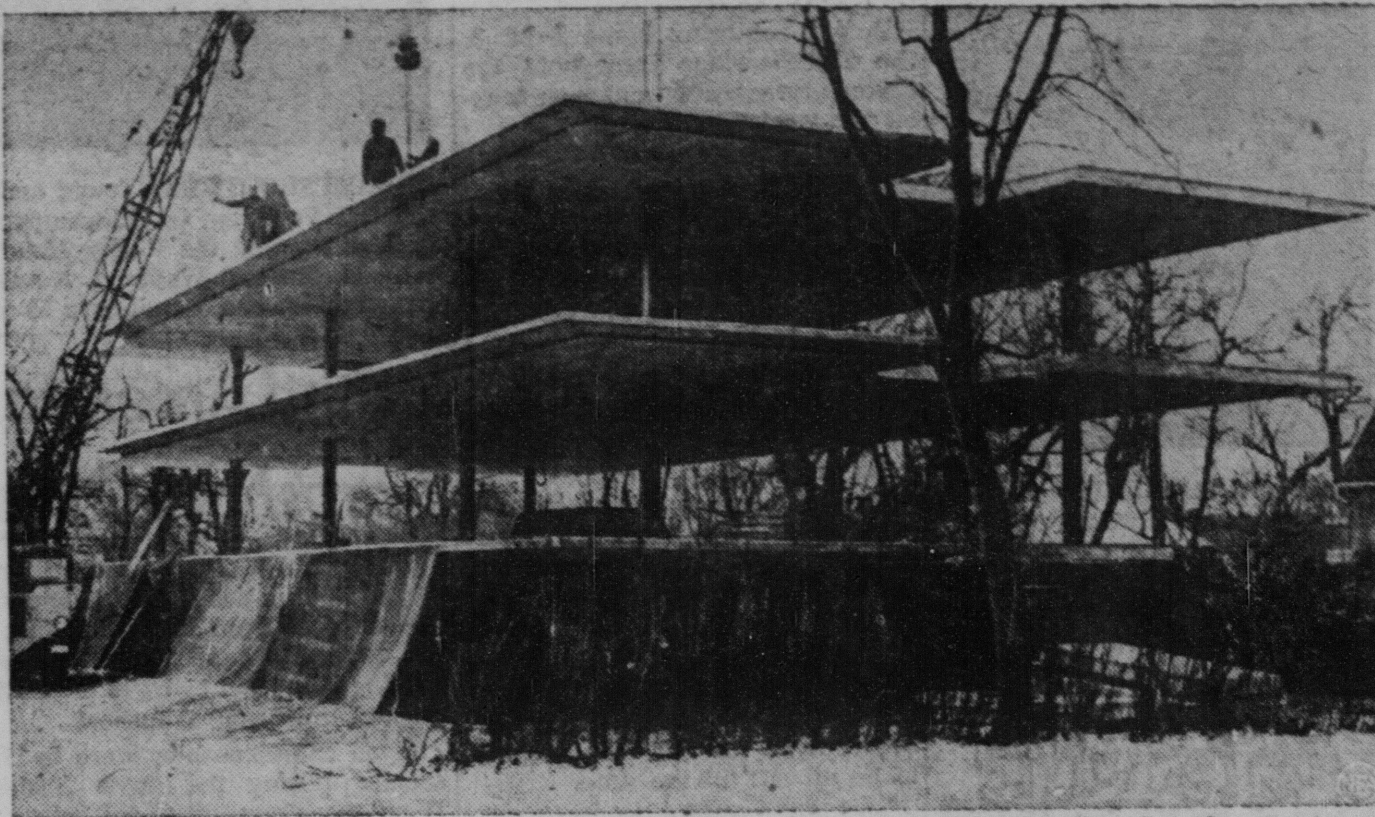

Revolutionary Building Technique Literally 'Raises the Roof'

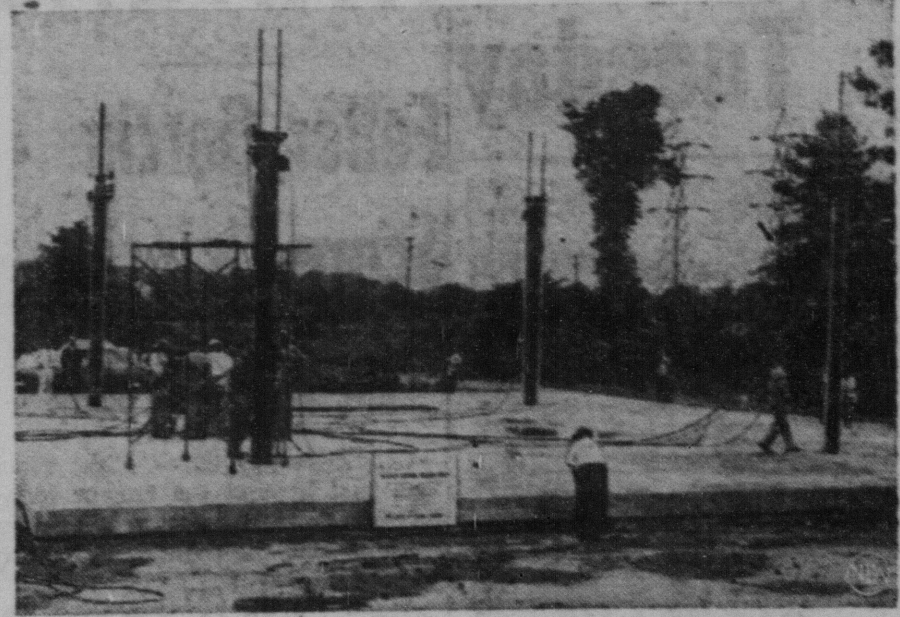

A 200-ton concrete roof is poured right on top of the floor for a Cleveland, Ohio, industrial warehouse.

A REVOLUTIONARY building

technique of laying concrete roofs on the ground and raising them into position, rather than erecting the building first and then putting on the roof, is cutting building costs from Toronto to Texas. As much as two weeks' construction time can be saved. These pictures show the main steps used to lay and raise the roof on a Cleveland, Ohio, industrial warehouse and a Toronto, Canada, apartment building. A concrete floor is poured. Then, with fiber glass plastic molds in between, the roof is poured right on top of it. After a two-week drying period, four hydraulic jacks are set up and builders literally "raise the roof." The new method, developed by the Institute of Inventive Research in San Antonio, Tex., cuts weight in half through the unique use of plastic molds. More than $500,000 is said to have been saved this way in constructing the Lockbourne Air Base dormitories in Columbus, O.

Roof in place over a second-floor laid and raised in the same way for a Toronto, Canada, apartment house. Both roof and floor are held in place and supported by steel columns.

After roof dries for two weeks, four hydraulic jacks begin to lift it off the ground and into position.

Too Much--Then Too Little--Rain Hurts Trees

Shade-tree leaf troubles are among the many at this time mainly with the rainy spell this time in many parts of the country.

The troubles are associated primarily with the rainy spell this spring and the lack of rainfall since then. In some cases, the troubles were undoubtedly aggravated by the weakened condition of the trees as a result of neglect in the past.

Several distinctly different diseases are involved. The first, the so-called leaf scorch disease, is prevalent on sugar and silver maples.

LEAF SCORCH is believed to result where the roots are unable during hot and dry periods to supply sufficient water to the leaves.

Such a set of conditions occurred during the heat wave early in July. The type of growth which developed just prior to these high temperatures and the soil moisture content were without doubt contributing factors in the severity of the scorch.

Infections produced by leaf spotting and blighting fungi are easily confused with leaf scorch and can be differentiated best by a microscopic examination of the browned tissues.

FERTILIZATION is the best treatment to prevent leaf scorch on sugar and silver maple trees.

Leaves attacked by parasites usually show more or less circular spots of varying sizes, scattered over the surfaces, whereas leaves affected by scorch show browning primarily along the edges in severe cases, and scattered, angular blotches between the veins in milder cases.

Moreover, fungus infections are more abundant on the lower, more shaded portions of the tree, whereas scorch is more prevalent on the side of prevailing winds or sun rays.

BECAUSE LEAF SCORCH is not caused by attacks of parasite agents, sprays will do little good. Any practice which will improve the general condition of the tree should be initiated. Fertilization this fall or early next spring probably is the best treatment. The tops of trees with restricted or injured root systems should be reduced by judicious pruning in order to increase the supply of water to the remaining leaves. Leaf spots and leaf blights due to fungi do not occur with enough regularity or with sufficient destructiveness to warrant the application of several Bordeaux or other sprays necessary to curb them. The fallen leaves should be gathered and burned to eliminate an important source of next spring's infections.

Considering lost wages, medical expenses, insurance, and property damage, the cost per traffic death today is more than $80,000.

Merchants Down Lisbon, 6-3 To Even Series, Play Tuesday

Kachner Hurls Seven-Hitter Against Siefke

The Salem Merchants, felled 7-3, Friday by Lisbon, evened the two-of-three-game series yesterday afternoon at Lisbon Stadium when they scored a victory over the Lisbon combine.

Tuesday night the Merchants will encounter the Lisbon nine in the third and deciding contest in a 6:15 game at Centennial Park. The winner of the Tuesday night game will then meet the East Liverpool-Negley winner in a three-of-five-game series for the championship of the Columbiana County League.

Negley, like Salem, evened their first round series with East Liverpool yesterday with a 1-0 shutout over the Potter City nine. They will play the third game Wednesday night at Negley.

Salem's victory yesterday came behind the seven-hit pitching of Dave Kachner. The locals rapped Henry Siefke for 13 bingles in the nine-inning affair.

The scoring of the contest opened in the second inning when Kirby Laughlin singled, Dempsey Baisley walked and Jack Oesch and Chuck Marks followed with singles to score both Laughlin and Baisley.

The Merchants tallied again in the third inning when Laughlin, who had a double, tallied on Duane Loudon's single. Siefke's pitch hit Baisley as the fourth inning opened, Jack Oesch advanced the runner with a single and Baisley scored on a flyout to center-field.

Going into the fifth frame, the Merchants held a 4-0 lead but three Lisbon runs tallied in the eighth inning. Bob Apple walked, Shortstop Biscan doubled and Ken Apple rapped a home run over the leftfield fence.

The Merchants scored two more runs in the top of the ninth inning when Marks, Kachner, Pat Mancuso and Bob Miller singled, scoring Marks and Kachner.

Laughlin led the locals at the plate with two doubles and a single while Oesch had three singles and Marks two singles. Ken Apple led the Lisbon nine with his home run and two singles.

Kachner totaled five strikeouts during the game while walking four batters. Siefke managed three strikeouts and also issued three walks.

Will Open Tennis Title Defense Today

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Australian stars Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor — the world's top doubles players — are heavy favorites to retain their tandem title in the National Doubles Tennis Championships opening today at Longwood.

The men's division is packed with talented performers from many nations, but none of the opposing teams seem likely to be a serious threat to the Aussie duo which yesterday added the Newport, R. I., Casino Invitation Crown to its U. S. and Wimbledon titles.

Their chief competition probably will come from the entry of Mervyn Rose of Australia and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, second-seeded on the foreign list. A mixed entry such as theirs can be seeded in either domestic or foreign ratings, but the Longwood officials put them in the foreign classification for better balance in the play.

Sedgman and McGregor whipped Seixas and Bill Talbert of New York at Newport yesterday in a five-set match, 5-7, 9-7, 3-6, 9-7, 6-3. In the singles final, Sedgman displayed the form which ranks him atop the world's singles players by defeating McGregor, 6-3, 6-2, 12-14, 6-3.

Top-seeded in the domestic list are a pair of veterans who have often succumbed to the Sedgman-McGregor skill, Gardnar Mulloy of Miami and Talbert. Second-seeded are Herbie Flann, Davis Cupper, and Frank Gurnsey, a recent star eager for a comeback.

Indians, Giants Gain 1/2 Game

Yanks, Dodgers Fall;

Kiner Raps 26th

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Cleveland's Indians and New York's Giants continued to apply the pressure on the league leaders but the spotlight was lifted off the pennant race and shifted to the two St. Louis clubs yesterday.

In the Mound City, rookie Stu Miller was deprived of a chance to join seven other rookies who have hurled a pair of shutouts in their first two major league starts when shortstop Solly Hemus made a double error in the ninth inning to let in the lone Cincinnati run in the Cardinals' 2-1 triumph. The Columbia grad had pitched a 1-0 shutout win over the Chicago Cubs in his first start last week.

In Detroit, the Tigers and Browns got a standoff in their big "waiver" swap of a week ago when Ned Garver pitched Detroit to a 4-2 victory over his old Browns mates after outfielder Vic Wertz had whipped his ex-Tiger mates with a two-run homer for a 4-2 St. Louis first game triumph. Wertz also homered and hit two singles in the second game.

Cleveland closed to within a game and a half of the American League leading New York Yankees, sweeping a pair from Chicago's White Sox, 6-2 and 2-1, while the Yankees were edging out the Red Sox in Boston, 3-2.

The New York Giants advanced half a game on Brooklyn in the National by splitting with the Boston Braves while Philadelphia's Phillies were shading the Dodgers, 2-1. Dave Koslo outpitched Warren Spahn, 4-2, in the nightcap after the Braves had won the opener, 7-3.

Washington clung to fourth place in the American, dividing a pair with Philadelphia. Bob Porterfield won his 10th with a 7-2 first game triumph for the Nats but the Athletics overcame a 5-0 deficit to win the second, 12-5.

Ralph Kiner helped Pittsburgh gain a split in the double bill with the Cubs, hitting his 26th homer of the year to lead the Pirates to a 5-2 nightcap win. That was the score of the Cubs' first game triumph as Bob Rush helped win his 12th by driving in three runs.

Miller had a 2-0 lead with only one more out needed to register his second straight shutout. Cincinnati had runners on first and second when Roy McMillan hit an easy grounder to Hemus. The shortstop fumbled and then threw wild trying for a force play at second and Joe Adcock scored from second. The youngster then fanned Bob Borkowski to end the game.

Hemus was the Cards' big gun on attack. Twice he tripled and twice he scored, driven in by Red Schoendienst. Cleveland got good pitching from Bob Feller and Mike Garcia in their double win. Each had won only one game in the last five weeks. It was No. 9 for Feller and No. 15 for Garcia. Harry Simpson's three-run homer settled the first game and Garcia's squeeze bunt provided the winning margin in the second.

A ninth-inning double by Yogi Berra and a single by Gene Woodling broke up the 2-2 tie in Boston and gave rookie Tom Gorman his fourth Yankee win.

Karl Drews gained his 11th victory and his fourth over Brooklyn with a four-hitter. The Phils overcame a 1-0 deficit with two tallies in the sixth on a single by Connie Ryan and run-scoring doubles by Richie Ashburn and Del Ennis off loser Carl Erskine.

Sid Gordon drove in three runs with his 29th home run to help Max Surkont win his ninth game in Boston's first game triumph over the Giants. Three runs without the aid of a base hit in the fourth inning gave the Giants and Dave Koslo the second game.

Open Amateur Golf Tourney In Seattle

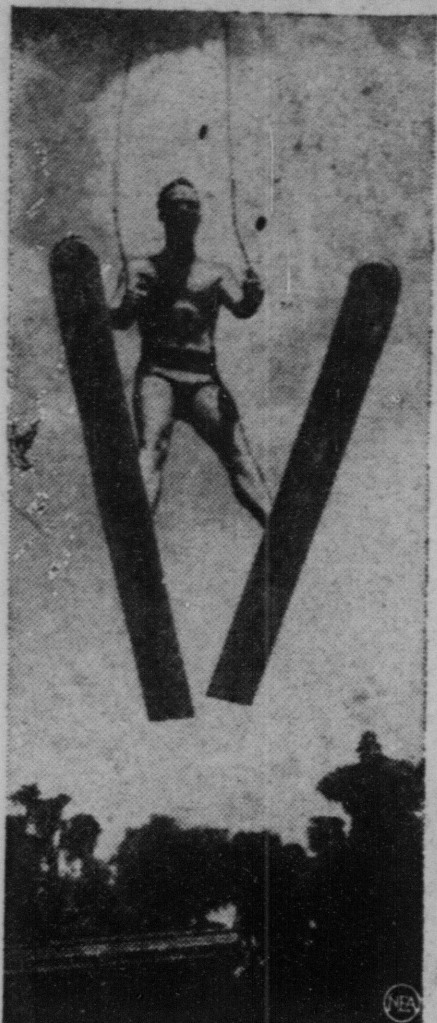

SEATTLE (AP)—The United States Golf Association lifts the curtains on its 52nd annual National Amateur golf show today, with a cast of 200 selected performers ready to begin the week-long competition for the championship.

Veteran observers think the title fight is wide open, and few expect the defending champion, young Billy Maxwell from Odessa, Tex., to hang on to the crown he won at Bethlehem, Pa., a year ago.

For no champion in the U. S. amateur blue ribbon fixture has scored twice in succession since Lawson Little subdued the field in 1934-35.

Seattle country club's rolling acres offer a quality test of golf that measures 6,322 yards and par of 35-36-71.

Seventy-two matches are on today's schedule, and 56 players drew a day's respite via byes in the blind draw. As has been the custom the past few years, there is no on-the-spot qualifying. The boys simply start hammering away at each other in match play on the first day.

SKIS IN THE SKIES — Bob Cozzens soared through the air at Cypress Gardens, Fla. The holder of the world record, 87 feet, was tuning up for the National Water Ski-Jumping Meet at Minocqua, Wis.

Feller, Garcia Score Victories

Tribe Opens Final Eastern Trip Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — First place was just around the corner today as the pennant-hungry Cleveland Indians left on their last eastern trip of the season.

Their double triumph over the Chicago White Sox Sunday left the Tribesmen just 1 1/2 games behind the faltering but still first-place New York Yankees.

Before returning home Sept. 2, the Tribe swings throughout the eastern strongholds and then tackles the western clubs.

Manager Al Lopez is hopeful his club will be in first by that time. But if the Clevelanders can merely hang on to the heels of the Yanks, Lopez thinks the team still will be the best bet to cop the pennant.

After returning home, the Indians play the rest of the season in Cleveland except for the last two contests which are in Detroit.

The senior clearly indicated the grimness of the task ahead, however, when he benched center-fielder Larry Doby for what he called lack of hustle on the base paths.

"I know he hasn't been getting his hits lately and that probably is bothering him," Lopez said. "But everyone on the ball club is going to go all out all the time."

"We can't afford to have anyone let down."

Lopez was provoked because Doby went only from first to second on Luke Easter's single in the third inning of the first game.

Doby was the hottest batter in the league two weeks ago, but now has had just one hit in his last 24 times at bat. He is hitting .286 and will be back in the lineup Tuesday night when the Indians open in Boston.

And although Lopez wasn't happy about this episode, he was heartened by the return to form of Bob Feller and Mike Garcia, who had won only one game apiece in the past five weeks.

Feller gave up just six hits in taming the Sox 6-2 in the opener. Garcia pitched an eight-hitter in the 3-2 nightcap triumph.

Harry Simpson's three-run homer was the big blow in a four-run outburst in the seventh inning of the first game. He also figured prominently in the second contest, singling in the fifth, taking second on a passed ball and then scoring on Ray Boone's bunt to tie the count 1-1.

Boone went to third when Birdie Tebbets threw his bat at a pitch-out and singled. He scored the winning run on Garcia's squeeze bunt.

Grand American 200-Target Trapshoot Opens In Vandalia

VANDALIA, O. (AP) — More than 600 of the nation's top gunners, plus several from Cuba and Canada, were on hand today for the opening 200-target event of the 53rd Grand American Trapshoot.

Seven championships were to be decided during the day's firing. Thirty-three more titles will be won before the curtain falls next Sunday on the 1,000 target program. Although the entry list for the annual classic is expected to be off about 10 per cent from last year, more than $200,000 in purses and optional pool winnings will be picked up by the hot shots.

Today's 200-target race at 16 yards carries an entry fee of $25, and each shooter may pour as much as $94 more into the optional — in which he can collect heavily if he finishes among the top few.

Add about $17.50 as the cost of eight boxes of 12 gauge shells and today's introductory event could cost a shooter about $136.50.

The day's championships will be decided on the first 100 targets. They include the veterans' title for men 70 or over and women 50 or over, the husband-wife, parent-child and brother — brother, brother-sister or sister-sister.

Two special events, each a 100-target race at 16 yards, will be run off between the feminine and junior state champions. The two features, known as the 'champion of champion' event, will place the country's best marksmen on the firing line.

Three days of preliminary firing wound up Sunday when three men tied for first place in the Dayton homecoming event. They were to compete in a shoot-off today to decide the winner.

Phil Miller, Reno, Nev.; Herb Bush, Canton, Ill., and C. J. Baker, Warren, O., each broke 200 straight birds in the 16-yard homecoming preliminary.

South Routs North Eleven In Rubber Bowl Tilt, 21-19

AKRON, O. (AP) — The gridiron warriors of the North still were trying to recover today from the shock of a 21-19 upset administered by the Southern All-Stars in the seventh annual high school classic.

The event will be held in Canton next year, for the third time, and the South will carry into that fray an edge of four wins, against two losses and a tie.

The North had been highly favored to win in the Rubber Bowl Saturday night, thereby evening the series. But in the final count, the Southern Rebels, coached by George Vlerobome of Zanesville and three assistants, held the margin of victory.

That was a safety in the third period. John (Big Thunder) Lewis of Fremont Ross attempted a punt, and it was blocked by Jim Mense, the All-Ohio defensive center from Hamilton Catholic. The ball rolled out of the end zone for two points.

Each side scored three touchdowns and one conversion.

Fullback Dave Rogers of Warren tallied two for the North, which was coached by a staff headed by Chuck Riffe of Warren. Rogers plunged six yards for the first and went 67 yards on a pass for the tie. Lewis was off tackle for 49 yards to get the other Northern touchdown.

For the South, little Joe Reed, a 150-pounder from Delaware, returned a kickoff for 87 yards and a touchdown. Bobby Lakes of Hamilton tossed a touchdown pass to end Ned Nehls of Newark, and Middletown's Jerry Harkrader capped three successive gains with a six-pointer from the three yard line.

The conversions were by Lima Central's Bob Bassitt for the North, and by Zanesville's Ronnie Tomson.

Springfield is bidding for the 1954 version of the classic and Columbus is expected to go after the 1955 game.

There had been talk of reverting to the original plan of having college coaches in charge of the all-star game. But the board of directors voted Saturday to continue the contest in the hands of the high school coaches. Each squad now is coached by one mentor and three assistants, with one of the assistants coming from a class B school. The number of assistants may be increased to five.

Middlecoff, Burke Deadlock In Kansas City Open Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Cary Middlecoff breezed into his second tournament playoff within a week today, meeting Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, Tex., for the Kansas City Open golf title.

The Memphis, Tenn., pro and Burke tied at 276 strokes, 12 under par, at the end of the regulation 72 holes in the $15,000 tournament.

The 18-hole medal play match for the $2,400 first prize was scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. over the 6,208-yard, par-72 Milburn Country Club course.

Just a week ago today Middlecoff lost a playoff to Julius Boros, a 292 total.

In yesterday's competition, Burke turned in a sizzling 5-under-par 67 after missing a 30-inch putt on the last hole. He blamed the bark of a dog, which came just as he started his putt, for the miss.

Middlecoff played his last two holes in a driving rain and got a 69.

Boros, who took the lead in money winnings by virtue of his big grab at Chicago, had to settle for $50 here after shooting 74 for a 292 total.

What really happens when the kids go back?

Fall brings a hundred questions that must be answered. Will the kids be all right? What about new teachers? Traffic conditions near the school? Lunches? Transportation? School Board rulings? Health precautions?

To find the answers you turn to your newspaper—naturally! Because the newspaper has the kind of information you're looking for.

Facts about everything! Facts about schools... the state... the town... the world. Facts about features, fun, and back-to-school bargains in stores downtown.

Facts you can carry in your pocket—to read whenever you choose... wherever you choose. All the facts—so that you can read as much as you choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads the newspaper nearly every day.

- That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in newspapers.

Because in newspapers an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans... but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is first with the most news... first with the most people... first with most advertisers.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

A missing persons bureau was set up at Barnstable tonight. Concern was felt for the 31 persons known to have been in the region and who have not been traced. It was feared that some might have been swept out to sea.

Telephone lines were still in a tangle and it was hoped that many now listed as missing might be safe but unable to communicate with their families.

Truckloads of blankets, clothing and food were sent from Red Cross depots in London.

At Minehead, on the sea front, 500 evacuees were cared for in a ballroom. Many others fled to Barnstable, and all over the countryside householders with room to spare were taking in the homeless.

One of the first relief fund contributions was 100 pounds ($280) made in behalf of Queen Elizabeth II by the Duchy of Cornwall. Mayors all over Britain were appealing for funds, and individuals and organizations poured in money and supplies.

dent, declared the wage increase offer "was tied into contract proposals which are not comparable to other agreements in existence with most other rubber companies."

"If the union should agree to the below-par contract proposals," he continued, "the net result would be a loss to the workers involved despite the wage increase."

A spokesman for the firm said it was not true that it had proposed "contract provisions which are less liberal than those in our old contract."

Besides the plants here, the strike was ordered for factories at Cadillac, Mich.; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Miami, Okla.; Clarksville, Tenn.; Oaks, Pa.; Marion, O.; Riverside, N. J., and Los Angeles.

Shortly after pickets appeared here, plants were struck at Tuscaloosa, Marion and Riverside.

The Miami, Okla., plant was closed already for a week's vacation.

A high union official here last night said the strike was authorized by the local executive board "and will not be called off unless a new contract is signed with the company."

Typographical Union Convention Opens

CINCINNATI (AP)—President Truman promised today to do all he could, in office and out, to strike the Taft-Hartley Act from the statute books.

Mr. Truman's pledge was contained in a message to the International Typographical Union, meeting in 94th convention here. In his message, which was read to the delegates, the President described the T-H act as vindictive legislation particularly unfair to the ITU.

The chief executive also remarked that it was fitting that the ITU convention be held in Cincinnati, because it was in this city that the union originated. He said, too, that all labor should recognize the statesmanlike efforts of the ITU in leading the fight for better living standards for all.

Governors of 43 states and Alaska also sent messages of good will to the convention.

The convention officially opened Saturday, with business sessions to begin today. The meetings probably will end Thursday or Friday.

to ask for an increase in their 300-million-dollar credit for the purchase of Russian industrial transport and agricultural equipment and for more Soviet technical aid. They likely seek also expansion of Soviet-Chinese trade to counter the West's partial blockade of China.

Clauses of the 1950 agreement providing for Russia to return the Port Arthur naval base and Manchurian Railway to China are due for discussion since the agreements were to be implemented either when the Japanese peace was concluded or by the end of 1952, whichever was earlier.

It is thought here that a Chinese request for the return of the base and railway will bring a sympathetic Soviet response.
